

Life as a Cadet

Imagine living and working on a cruise ship as part of your college course. That's the life as a cadet during sea phases!

During your sea phases, you'll live and train aboard participating Carnival Corporation ships. You'll put your college learning into practice, build confidence and experience what it's like to be part of a shipboard team.

What You'll Do On Board

Depending on your route, you may:

- Stand watch on the bridge or in the engine control room
- Assist with shipboard operations
- Work on real tasks with your team, learn from experienced officers and technical teams
- Build real experience in a working environment
- You'll also have down time to rest, have study days, stay active and explore incredible destinations ashore.

There's more to Sea. Power your future. Explore the world.

Life as a Cadet

Where You'll Live

Cadets live as part of the ship's company during sea phases, with crew accommodation, meals on board and access to shipboard support.

Staying Connected

Being away from home can feel like a big step.

Cadets can stay connected with family and friends using available shipboard communication options.

Building Confidence

Life at sea helps you grow. You'll learn how to work with others, solve problems, take responsibility and become more independent.

We also take your wellbeing seriously. We have robust support systems to help you adjust to life at sea, including regular check-ins, confidential advice lines and a culture of mentorship that encourages you to speak up if you have any concerns.

By the end of your sea phases, you'll have grown in confidence, resilience and independence, with a clearer picture of the incredible life and career that await you as a fully-fledged officer at sea.
